Owing to the illness of Miss Gertrude Eckman, which, unfortunately will probably be of several weeks' duration, she has sold us her entire stock of Millinery and Millinery Goods for less than one-half of New York cost.

We propose to give the ladies of Klamath Falls and county the benefit of this unusual purchase. It is needless to state that Gertrude's Millinery was par excellence in every respect. Miss Gertrude personally made her selections in New York, and gathered a very comprehensive line---one that would be difficult to find in most cities of greater population. We have a hat for every lady and child in Klamath County, and the price will be within the reach of all.

Remember the Reductions:

Would you blame her if she kicked?

The light, simple, sanitary Dairy Tubular Cream Separator Bowl.

You'd consider your wife lacked spunk, if she didn't kick at washing the ten feet of rattling discs, from a single common "bucket bowl" cream separator, when she might as well be washing the simple, light cleaned in-a-minute Dairy Tubular Bowl.

The picture shows all there is to the light, simple, durable easily cleaned Sharples Dairy Bowl, used exclusively in Sharples Dairy Tubular Cream Separators---the cleanest skimming separator made.

OF INTEREST TO WOMEN

By MARGARET MASON

(Written for the United Press)

New York, May 18:—Dan Cupid has turned designer. He has conspired with Dame Fashion to keep wayward husbands home nights and love fires lighted on Hymeneal hearths. When curl paper and Mother Hubbards came to the breakfast table, Love and Friend Husband sought refuge behind the newspaper. Hence the sly Cupid has specialized in negligees. So fascinating are the results that newspapers are no longer digested with the morning egg, but love feasts of sugar and honey are the matutinal menu. Who could resist you in the froth of shadow lace, the fluff of chiffon, and the frivol of rosebuds?

A fairy-like model with these three accessories is built on Empire lines. The short bodice is of shadow lace veiled in flesh colored chiffon. The short, loose sleeves of lace are caught with a tiny wreath of wee pink rosebuds of chiffon. A girle of wide Nattier blue pique edge ribbon loosely confines the short waist and fastens in front with a long ended bow centered with a rose wreath. The skirt is ankle length of the lace finished with two wide ruffles and an over-skirt of the chiffon edged with rosebuds reaches to the top of the first ruffle.

In striking contrast with its chaste simplicity, but equally fetching, is a trim the slippers of bright shirred plain charmeuse of cerulean hue cut on loose kimona lines, outlined in swansdown and girded with a tasseled rope of silver cord. Since all is fair in love and war, it is fitting that Balkan influences should invade the realm of the negligee. More man will have to surrender to the variegated charms of the Bulgarian robe and if you don one you will certainly be up in arms--his arms. Developed in ochre, Chinese blue, or myrtle green crepe, the V shape neck, short kimona sleeves, and wide sash are embroidered in bright Bulgarian silks. Ball buttons of imitation amber, lapis lazuli or jade fasten the loose blouse waist and flowing skirt down the front, and tassels of variegated silk finish the sash ends.

It is a good thing love is blind. If Eroa had a finger in the designing of the new Futurist bodice gown he would have to be or else resort to smoked glasses. Nothing so dazzlingly riotous in color has been seen since childhood's happy days when you used to peer at the prismatic glories of your ten cent kaleidoscope. Loose draped robes in these conglomerately colored silks have eruptions of red, orange, green, blue and purple rosettes of chiffon down the front and adorning the sleeves.

An overflow of Easter egg rosettes simply, but equally fetching, is a trim the slippers of bright shirred silk which match up this quiet little rest robe. Negligees these days must be complete from your head to your toes. Tootles on negligees particularly are sartorial feats. For the Balkan robes are the turkish slippers of bright hued leather gold embroidered and silk fringed turban tops your tousled mop. Delicate satin mull in delicate shades garlanded in rosebuds and a Marie Antoinette mob cap of shadow lace, satin ribbon and buds add the touch of Parisienne to your elaborate lace and chiffon negligee.

Satin sandals laced with ribbons round your ankles are made with equal appropriateness from beneath the lace edge flounces of your Empire negligee of pompadour chiffon or the flowing draperies of your Grecian lounging robe. The quaint embroidered silk slippers of the Chinese bells are a fitting finish for your richly embroidered kimona from the Japan.

With the prodigal return of the petticoat the short breakfast jacket has taken on a new lease of fashionable life. The Balkan jacket, shaped something like a Coesack coat with a fringed sash in lieu of a cartridge belt is the only new real novelty in this line. It reaches almost to the knees and the petticoat worn with it must partake of the jacket's bright

There is this to say of these Balkan and Futurist negligees. Though they may jar the peaceful quietude of the home with their shrieking colors, they will save you many a fat bill at the dry cleaners. You can't lounge long unsullied in pastel tinted chiffon and lace but an exodus from the ink bottle or even the jam pot will only enhance the color scheme of your Futurist or Balkan negligee.

If it is true that beauty is only skin deep, then verily the new flesh tinted blouses are the acme of pulchritude. In chiffon or crepe de chine the yoked fronts are laid in inch-wide pleats and the neck and sleeves finished with flat Dutch collars and cuffs of sheer tinted embroidered batiste. They are the very Chicest blouses for wear for your tailored suits. So closely does their tint simulate the flesh, that when fair devotees of tea toes back their coats at the smart hotel tea rooms, it looks like an open avowal that they have nothing on for Friday.
